

Contributors

Murray S. Y. Besette (PhD, Claremont Graduate University) is director of academic programs at the Victims of Communism Memorial Foundation. He is a former associate professor of government at Morehead State University, the editor of two books, and the author of numerous articles and book chapters in the areas of political philosophy, national security, constitutionalism, and the ideals that inspire America's system of liberty. He is a Lincoln Fellow of the Claremont Institute, academic fellow of the Foundation for Defense of Democracies, and former codirector of the Bluegrass State Intelligence Community Center of Academic Excellence. He was educated in political science at the University of Alberta and Claremont Graduate University, as well as in counterterrorism at the International Institute for Counter-Terrorism at the Interdisciplinary Center, Herzliya, Israel.

Robert Black (PhD, West Virginia University) is a professor of economics at Houghton College, in Houghton, New York. He currently holds the Chair of Private Enterprise and Ethics at Houghton.

James E. Bruce (PhD, Baylor University) is an associate professor of philosophy at John Brown University. He writes and thinks at the intersection of philosophy, theology, politics, and economics. His first book, Rights in the Law: The Importance of God's Free Choices in the Thought of Francis Turretin (Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht, 2013), explores the relationship between God and morality.

Contributors

J. Daryl Charles (PhD, Westminster Theological Seminary) is an affiliate scholar in theology and ethics at the Acton Institute, a contributing editor to the journal Providence: A Journal of Christianity and American Foreign Policy, and an affiliate scholar of the John Jay Institute. He is author, co-author, editor, or co-editor of eighteen books, including Natural Law and Religious Freedom (Routledge, 2018), (with David D. Corey) The Just War Tradition: An Introduction (ISI Books, 2012), (with David B. Capes) Thriving in Babylon (Pickwick, 2011), Retrieving the Natural Law: A Return to Moral First Things (Eerdmans, 2008), and most recently, (with Mark David Hall) America's Wars and the Just War Tradition: A History of U.S. Conflicts (University of Notre Dame Press, 2019) and Wisdom's Work: Essays on Ethics, Vocation, and Cultural Engagement (Acton Institute Press, 2019). Charles is co-editor of the recently translated Common Grace series by Abraham Kuyper, part of a twelve-volume series of Abraham Kuyper's Collected Works in Public Theology, published by Lexham Press.

Kevin Currie-Knight (PhD, University of Delaware) is a teaching assistant professor in East Carolina University's College of Education (Department of Special Education, Foundations, and Research).

Dominic Farrell, LC (PhD, Pontifical Gregorian University, STL, Pontifical Athenaeum Regina Apostolorum) is a full professor of the Faculty of Philosophy at the Pontifical Athenaeum Regina Apostolorum.

Philippe Jacquinot (PhD, Université Paris 2 Assas Panthéon) is a senior lecturer at Université d'Evry Val d'Essonne—Paris Saclay and a fellow of the LITEM. He heads the Master of Mananagement Control at his university. His research concerns integrity in the context of delegation.

Phillip Magness (PhD, George Mason University) is a senior research fellow at the American Institute for Economic Research. He is the author of numerous works on economic history, taxation, economic inequality, the history of slavery, and education policy in the United States.

Hans-Martien ten Napel (PhD, Leiden University) is an associate professor of constitutional law at Leiden University, the Netherlands. In 2014 he was awarded a Research Fellowship in Legal Studies at the Center of Theological Inquiry in Princeton, New Jersey, which enabled him to be in full-time residence at CTI for the academic year 2014–2015. In 2017, he published, as the fruit of his fellowship, the monograph Constitutionalism, Democracy and Religious Freedom: To Be Fully Human (Routledge).

Arnaud Pellissier-Tanon (PhD, IAE of Aix-ESSEC) is a senior lecturer at Université Paris 1 Panthéon Sorbonne and a fellow of the PRISM. He heads the School of Human Resources Management of his University. His research aims to renew organizational behavior in the light of Aristotelian philosophy. His work on “The Labour Theory of Value and Social Justice” was honored in 2001 with the Novak Award by the Acton Institute.

Jonathan W. Pidluzny (PhD, Boston College) is an associate professor of political science at Morehead State University. His research focuses on the social prerequisites of liberal democracy, particularly in relation to democratization efforts in the Middle East.

Aeon J. Skoble (PhD, Temple University) is a professor of philosophy at Bridgewater State University, and co-coordinator of the program in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics. He is the author of Deleting the State: An Argument about Government (Open Court, 2008) and The Essential Nozick (Fraser Institute, 2019), the editor of Reading Rasmussen and Den Uyl: Critical Essays on Norms of Liberty (Lexington Books, 2008), and co-editor of Political Philosophy: Essential Selections (Prentice-Hall, 1999) and Reality, Reason, and Rights (Lexington Books, 2011). He has frequently lectured and written for the Institute for Humane Studies, the Cato Institute, and the Foundation for Economic Education, and he is a senior fellow at the Fraser Institute.

Chris W. Surprenant (PhD, Boston University) is an associate professor of philosophy at the University of New Orleans. He is the author of Kant and the Cultivation of Virtue (Routledge 2014) and the co-editor of Kant and Education: Interpretations and Commentary (Routledge 2011), and his recent articles have appeared in Ethical Theory and Moral Practice, Educational Philosophy and Theory, Topoi, and edited volumes.