
Contributors

Gregory R. Beabout is associate professor of philosophy at Saint Louis University. His research interests include existentialism, Catholic social thought, and applied ethics. He is the author of two books, Freedom and Its Misuses: Kierkegaard on Anxiety and Despair (Marquette University Press, 1996) and Applied Professional Ethics: A Developmental Approach for Use with Case Studies with Daryl J. Wennemann (University Press of America, 1994). His articles have appeared in Faith and Philosophy, Philosophy and Theology, Commonweal, and First Things.

Alejandro A. Chafuen is president of the Atlas Economic Research Foundation. He is the author of Economía y Ética: Raíces Cristianas de la Economía Libre de Mercado (RIALP, 1991) and Christians for Freedom: Late-Scholastic Economics (Ignatius Press, 1986), as well as numerous articles in economics, economic history, and the philosophy of economics. He is an active member of the Mont Pelerin Society and the Philadelphia Society.

Eduardo J. Echeverria is associate professor of philosophy at Conception Seminary College. He has advanced degrees in philosophy and theology, and received his Ph.D. in philosophy from the Free University of Amsterdam. He has published articles in such scholarly publications as The Thomist, Logos, Philosophia Reformata, Markets & Morality, Calvin Theological Journal, and Revista Portuguesa de Filosofia.

Amir Horowitz is a faculty member in the department of history, philosophy, and Jewish studies in the Open University of Israel. His research interests include philosophy of mind and cognitive science, philosophy of language, epistemology, philosophy of law, and ethics. He has published articles in such scholarly publications as American Philosophical Quarterly, Philosophical Studies, and Philosophy and Phenomenological Research.

Contributors

William R. Luckey is professor and chair of the department of political science and economics at Christendom College. He earned the M.B.A. from Shenandoah University and the Ph.D. in philosophy from Fordham University. He has published articles in such scholarly publications as Faith and Reason, Markets & Morality, and various periodicals. He is an active member in the Eric Voegelin Society and the American Political Science Association.

Jude Chua Soo Meng is doctoral research scholar and president of the graduate fellowship in philosophy at the National University of Singapore. He is currently a visiting graduate fellow of the Center for Philosophy of Religion at the University of Notre Dame. He has published articles in such scholarly publications as The Modern Schoolman, Maritain Studies, and Doctor Angelicus: Internationales Thomistisches Jahrbuch.

D. Eric Schansberg is professor of economics at Indiana University (New Albany). He is the author of numerous journal articles, Poor Policy: How Government Harms the Poor (Westview Press, 1996), and an unpublished manuscript from which his article is distilled, Turn Neither to the Right Nor to the Left: A Consistent Christian Philosophy of Government.

David VanDrunen is assistant professor of systematic theology and Christian ethics at Westminster Theological Seminary in California. He earned the J.D. from Northwestern University and the Ph.D. in philosophy from Loyola University in Chicago.