

Contributors

Thomas C. Behr (PhD, SUNY Buffalo) is Associate Professor of History at the University of St. Thomas, Houston, Texas.

Anne R. Bradley (PhD, George Mason University) is the Vice President of Academic Affairs and the George and Sally Mayer Fellow for Economic Education at the Fund for American Studies. She is a Professor of Economics at the Institute of World Politics and an Acton Affiliate Scholar.

David Kotter (PhD, The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary; MBA, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign) is the Dean of the School of Theology and Professor of New Testament at Colorado Christian University. He serves as a Senior Research Fellow for the Institute for Faith, Work & Economics, and co-founded the Faith and Work Project at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary to train future pastors in economics.

Matthew A. Owens (PhD, George Mason University) is Assistant Professor of Economics at Northern Michigan University.

Todd A. Scacewater (PhD, Westminster Theological Seminary) is Provost and Associate Professor at Dallas International University. He is the author of The Divine Builder in Psalm 68: Jewish and Pauline Perspectives (T&T Clark, 2020) and the editor of Discourse Analysis of the New Testament Writings (Fontes, 2020).

Johan Snel (PhD, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam) is principal lecturer and researcher at Ede Christian University of A.S. and Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, Netherlands. His book The Seven Lives of Abraham Kuypers has been translated into English and Korean while Chinese and Indonesian translations are underway. His PhD thesis Abraham Kuypers: A Life in Journalism. An Alternative Biography was published in Dutch.

Manfred Spieker (PhD, University of Munich; Habilitation, University of Cologne) is Professor Emeritus of Christian Social Thought in the Institute of Catholic Theology at Osnabrück University, where he taught since 1983. He has served as a guest professor at the Universidad de Valparaíso in Chile (1988), the Faculty for Catholic Theology in Erfurt (1991), the Universidad Gabriela Mistral in Santiago, Chile (1997), and Vilnius University (1998). He also served as president of the Association Internationale pour l'Enseignement Social Chrétien (AIESC) from 1992 to 1995 and 2002 to 2007. From 2012 to 2016 he was consultant of the Pontifical Council Justitia et Pax.

John W. Taylor (PhD, University of Cambridge) is Professor of New Testament and Chair of Biblical Studies at Gateway Seminary.

João Paulo Thomaz de Aquino (PhD, Trinity International University) is Associate Professor of New Testament at the Andrew Jumper Graduate Center of the Mackenzie Presbyterian Institute in São Paulo, Brazil. He recently published his doctoral dissertation, The Land Is the Lord's: Land Justice in Luke–Acts, with Langham Academic.

Kai Weiß is Research and Outreach Coordinator at the Austrian Economics Center and since 2017 a board member of Friedrich A. Hayek Institute in Vienna. He is also a graduate student in theology at the Pontifical Faculty of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, DC. He holds an MA in Politics from Hillsdale College.